Explaining and mapping food insecurity among fisherwomen in Benin

RESULTS

INTRODUCTION

Food insecurity

- Underweight, deficiencies, low energy, lower productivity & employability

1/9 people worldwide is malnourished

Fishery sector

Source of nutritious food, employment, and income

Plays important role in reducing food insecurity and alleviating poverty

Women's role

Women represent 50% of global fisheries workforce

Underrepresented in research, policy, and interventions

RESEARCH CONTEXT

Inland fisheries in Benin

Provide 32% of animal protein

40,000 women involved

No gender-specific interventions

AIM

To investigate the possible drivers and prevalence of food insecurity among fisherwomen in Benin

F.B. Brasser 1, B.G.J.S. Sonneveld 1, M.D. Houessou 3, F.S. Thoto 3, C.F.A. van Wesenbeeck 2, A. Alfarra 4

1 Amsterdam University College, The Netherlands.
2 Amsterdam Centre for World Food Studies, VU University, The Netherlands.
3 Actions pour l’Environnement et le Développement Durable, Benin.
4 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Italy.